Grocery Hop

You may have noticed food-inspired designer wear as of late (Moschino's McDonald's bag and Chanel's grocery store runway at Paris Fashion Week, anyone?). Anya Hindmarch's Counter Culture collection echoes this trend by juxtaposing the humour found in everyday items with luxury. Fun designs like cereal boxes and Digestives biscuits fashioned into totes and clutches make this Fall/Winter 2014 collection one to crave, literally.

Coco Pops Imperial Clutch, RM5,890, from Anya Hindmarch.

Frosties Maxi Featherweight Ebury tote, RM7,950, from Anya Hindmarch.

Digestives Clutch, RM5,350, from Anya Hindmarch.

The busy print draws attention upwards, away from your hips.

IF YOU'RE PEAR-SHAPED...
Printed jacket, RM259, from R by MS. READ.

Prints give the sporty jacket a feminine flair - just don't zip it up.

IF YOU'RE BOXY...
Printed jacket, RM150. From Monki.

IF YOU'RE PETITE...
Jacket, from Max Mara.

A good crop is your best friend. Look for ones that stop at your waist.

Stay Cool

Collarless jackets are less stuffy than their blazer counterparts. Plus, it means you get to show off your pretty neckline or statement necklace (from page 151).

Carefree Dressing

Staple pieces mean easy ensembles - just the way we like it. Check out Jeep's new Carefree Tripper collection, with comfortable, practical pieces that are made for days off or even for travelling! Our picks include their go-to white blouse and super cute denim shorts.

Blouse, RM129.90, from Jeep.

Denim shorts, RM139.90, from Jeep.

Tribe Leader

African prints, intricate embroidery detailing and deep, lush colours bring out the wild side of Trucco's latest collection. We adore their printed pants that bring you from the boardroom to after hours. Up your style game with their beaded clutches and metallic accessories. Find Trucco in Parkson, Pavilion KL.
